

Professional development of students

Reflection: how do you currently support the professional development of your PhD students?

To what extent do you consider it your responsibility to support the professional development of your PhD students?

Do you currently support the professional development of your PhD students?
What specific actions does this involve?

What three actions do you consider to be most effective? Why?

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.

In your opinion, what commitments do you have toward your PhD students once they have graduated?

What careers do your PhD students pursue when they graduate?

How diverse are these career choices, and are some career choices better supported by you than others?